

Wanpaku Ojisan's The continuation of the story of the rabbit and the turtle

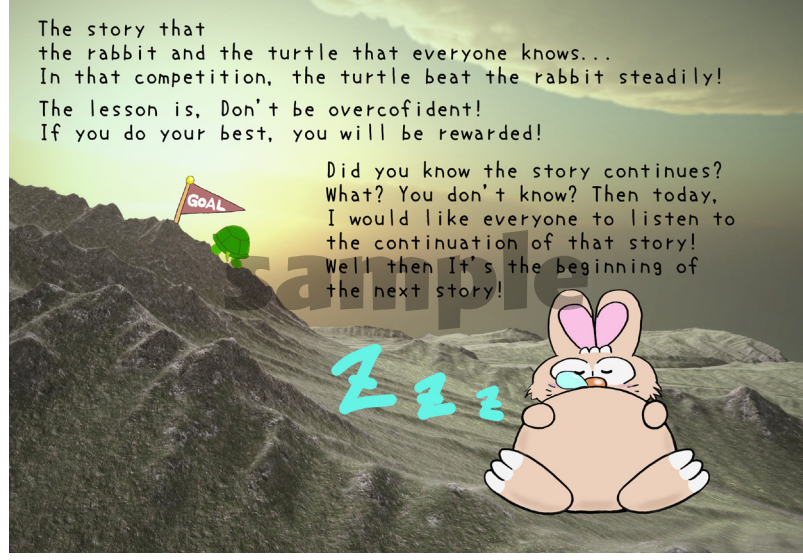

Written by Wanpaku Ojisan
Illustrated by Wanana

The story that the rabbit and the turtle that everyone knows...
In that competition, the turtle beat the rabbit steadily!
The lesson is, Don't be overconfident!
If you do your best, you will be rewarded!

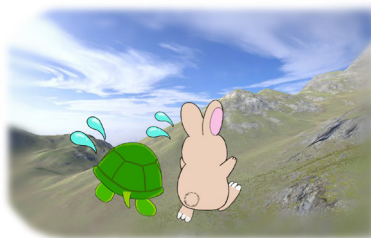

Did you know the story continues?
What? You don't know? Then today,
I would like everyone to listen to the continuation of that story!
Well then It's the beginning of the next story!

The rabbit, who lost the game, talks to the turtle.
"It's unfair to finish without waking me up on the way."
They start fighting again.

Turtle is shy, so he hid his face in his shell,
but his eyes glared.

Rabbit
"I can't stand losing to someone like you who can't even show a face."

sample

The fox village mayor is looking at the two fighting.
"Why don't you try again?
The previous competition was a course aimed at the top of the mountain,
so why not try competing downhill this time?"

The rabbit and the turtle decided to compete again.

sample

Well then... Ready, set, go!

After the signal,
the rabbit jumps out.
The turtle will be separated
in no time!

On the other hand,
the turtle continues to move slowly step by step.

Slowly and slowly,
he will reach a steep downhill.

And the turtle
got an inspiration!
"Let's roll!"

On the steep downhill,
the turtle curled up
and began to roll.
It's tremendously fast.
And passed the rabbit in no time.

The rabbit is surprised.

An illustration of an open book with a white cover and a grey spine. The pages are white and feature Japanese text. The top page has large orange characters, and the bottom page has smaller black characters. The book is set against a yellow background with a horizontal gradient.

ためしよみ

は

ここまでです